Where in the Hell Did You Come From?: Game Warden Ups and Downs & Ins and Outs Wayne Fitzwater

Retired Game Warden Wayne Fitzwater served in the Montana Fish & Game Department for over 25 years, covering many of the warden districts in the southwestern part of the state. He began his tenure with the department in the 1950s, and witnessed several changes to the warden's role and responsibilities over the span of his career. In 1971, he was named Montana's Wildlife Officer of the Year. The stories he shares in Where in the Hell Did You Come From? tell of the many ups and downs of being a game warden in the rugged wilds of the American West. The job wasn't just checking hunting licenses and writing up tickets! Stealthily tracking a poacher through the woods, trapping nuisance bear, and lending a helping hand to sportsmen in need were all part of a day's hard work. Come along for a wild ride through the many ins and outs of a warden's day to day experiences, as told by a true veteran game officer!
