Excerpt from American Practical Navigator: An Epitome of Navigation and Nautical Astronomy

In accordance with the purpose contemplated in the purchase of the copyright of the New American Practical Navigator, a thorough and complete revision has been made by Commander P. H. Cooper, U. S. Navy, acting under the direction of the Bureau. The revision consists principally in the substitution of the more concise and convenient methods of the present day for the obsolete methods of the past, and its complete rearrangement under proper chapters and paragraphs for ready reference, keeping in view, however, the character of the work as a Practical Navigator.

The revision having been completed, it was submitted to Capt. Ralph Chandler, U. S. Navy, for a final review, and having received a satisfactory report from that officer it has been accepted by the Bureau and will hereafter lie substituted for the former editions of the work.

A revision of Bowditch's American Practical Navigator having become necessary, the work has been completed by Lieut. G. W. Logan, U. S. Navy, under the supervision of the Hydrographer to the Bureau of Equipment. The revision was approved by a Board consisting of Capt. Colby M. Chester, U. S. Navy, Commander C. J. Badger, U. S. Navy, and Lieut. Commander C. C. Rogers, U. S. Navy. It is directed that this revised edition be substituted for all former editions.
